

MOTO Community Code of conduct.

At MOTO, we believe that empowering and supporting individuals can reignite the "moto wa maisha" - the fire of life (in Kiswahili), and that access to support and rehabilitation therapies are key to reducing vulnerability and isolation, and increasing the chances of a happier, healthier life for individuals and their families.

Based on our core values, we aim to advocate for and alongside people living with disability, long-term conditions (Both acquired and non-acquired), and other vulnerable and marginalize people. As well as to empower that advocate alongside us, to raise awareness and support for those in need. Further to this, we aim to empower through education, rehabilitation and skill building. Enabling individuals to achieve their daily activities of living, and to reignite their "fire of life".

We are also dedicated to fighting for fairness. Communities mirror the societies in which they exist, and positive action is essential to counteract the many forms of inequality and abuses of power that exist in those societies today. We recognize that there are power imbalances among us, but we refuse to accept that they are unchangeable. Rather, we commit to creating a community and a world where we can all stand as equals. We celebrate diversity in all its forms and expect all members of our community to contribute to an environment that is free of harassment.

The Rules.

The list of characteristics we choose to celebrate rather than disparage includes (but is not limited to) gender, gender identity and expression, sexual orientation, disability, age, physical appearance, race, ethnicity, and religion.

The following behaviors are expected of all community members at MOTO event or activities:

- Participate in an active and thoughtful way. In doing so, you contribute to the health and longevity of this community.
- Exercise consideration and respect in your speech and actions.
- Alert the MOTO Team if you notice a dangerous situation, someone in distress, or violations of this Code of Conduct, even if they seem inconsequential.
- Remember that event venues may be shared with members of the public; please be respectful to all patrons of these locations.

These behaviors are unacceptable within our community:

- Violence, threats of violence, or violent language directed against another person.
- Sexist, racist, homophobic, transphobic, ableist, or otherwise discriminatory jokes and language.
- Unwelcome sexual attention. This includes sexualized comments or jokes as well as inappropriate touching, groping, and unwelcome sexual advances.
- Personal insults, particularly those related to gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, disability, race, or religion.
- Sustained disruption of community events, including talks and presentations.
- Advocating for, or encouraging, any of the above behavior(s).

We expect participants to follow these rules at all event venues, event-related social activities, and on our online platforms. We think people should follow these rules outside of MOTO-related activities, too!

Reporting & Consequences.

Our Community Code of Conduct exists to articulate a broad philosophy and to describe a set of behaviors that are acceptable and consistent with MOTO's values as well as those behaviors that are unacceptable, ugly, and unwanted. The Code is not an exhaustive list of every possible Do and Don't; if you aren't sure if something is in line with the MOTO spirit, ask a member of our team. If you are being harassed, notice that someone else is being harassed, or have any other concerns, please contact a member of the MOTO Team immediately. On the other hand, if you see someone who is making an extra effort to ensure our community is welcoming, friendly, and encourages all participants to contribute to the fullest extent, we want to know about that too!

If a community member engages in unacceptable behavior, the MOTO Team may take any action they deem appropriate, up to and including a temporary ban or permanent expulsion from the event or community without warning.

Code of Conduct violations reduce the value of our events for everyone. People like you make our community and our world a better place. We want you to be happy and comfortable while you're with us. Please join us in ensuring that we are all upholding the highest standards of mutual respect during our time together.
